HURRI-KANE

VOL. XVIII

Published by the Senior Class of

Kane High School Kane, Pa.

Presenta

tion

DURING the past few years there have been steadily growing, unconsciously perhaps and with little recognition, active music organizations which have influenced not only the educational system but also the residents of our town. Kane is fast becoming music conscious! In appreciation of this fact and with hope for the continued success and expansion of these departments, this EIGHTEENTH VOLUME of the "Hurri-Kane" has been completed and presented to all those interested in music as a history of Kane High School during this year. It holds an accurate record of important events and memorable happenings. In it we hope you will find many lasting interests.

TWENTY-SIX years ago the town of Kane outgrew its school facilities and as a result, the present high school building and the Clay Street building were built. At that time it was believed that the town would in all probability not again outgrow its school facilities, and yet twenty-six years later the unusual condition confronted the board of having more grade rooms than were necessary with at the same time a shortage in high school room and equipment.

So it came about during the early part of 1935 that the present high school building designed for about three hundred thirty pupils could not adequately provide facilities for almost double this number enrolled at that time. The problem of enlarging the high school building without spoiling its appearance and design perplexed the board of education for sometime until assurance was given that government funds could be made available for paying a share of the cost of a new building, and for the first time in the history of Kane Schools the sum of $52,281.00 was invested by the United States Government as its share of the cost of the present high school library and gymnasium addition. With this help the board of education was enabled to solve the problem by the erection of this new addition rather than by making more or less unsatisfactory repairs to the old building.

On December 14, 1935, contracts were let for the erection of the new addition and remodeling repairs in the high school building; and during the first part of April, 1936, work was actually begun. At the close of the year 1936 the building was practically completed. With the addition of folding bleacher seats in the gymnasium and the installation of equipment in the laboratory and machines in the Industrial Arts Department the entire plans formulated in 1935 will have been brought to completion, and this, without any increase in local school taxes.

So the year 1936 marks another important step forward in the history of Kane's Public Schools. Through the persistent efforts and foresight of the Kane Board of Education and others who have devoted a great deal of time and hard work to the project without any pay, Kane can now boast of an educational plant second to none in many towns of twice its population.

H. G. Berkhouse,
Secretary, Kane Board of Education.

MUSICAL vibrations are those sound vibrations which stimulate pleasant reactions in us. Sound alone does not produce pleasant vibrations. There is a music that is produced by other means, the music produced by happy surroundings and successful accomplishment.

In this respect there has been an abundance of music this year in the Kane High School. First, we have seen the beginning and completion of the new addition. For all of us this was a great event; for most of us a surprise which we had not foreseen. This work which was completed is going to provide more room, greater opportunities, and nicer surroundings. It will enable us to live bigger school lives and eventually, we hope, produce the effect which will make us better citizens. Second, the fact that much of the construction was carried on after school was in session made a distinct hazard which all of us had to surmount. The best of work was difficult with the hammering and confusion. Nevertheless good work was accomplished and much credit is due both pupils and faculty for the manner in which they rose above adverse circumstances. The same is true of the grade teachers and pupils, for all suffered to some degree.

When routine is disturbed, conformity to a new set-up is uncertain and often irksome. This is one reason why any change from a routine, whether it be in school, government, or life, is frequently accompanied by stress and discomfort. These accompaniments of change are more or less comfortable depending upon the adaptability of those whom the change affects.

You, who comprise the school system, have shown fine adaptability and this should forecast with some accuracy the fact that you will have a happy, successful future.

G. H. Rickert.

THERE was a time when enjoyment and beauty were not to be found in the subject matter of our public schools. Those were the days when subjects were studied to discipline the mind. In fact music, art, and physical education came in the back door of our schools through what we chose to call extra-curricular activities. Although a great many people appreciated the value of music it was not until fairly recently that it was incorporated in the high school curriculum.

Now the glee club and orchestra practice during school hours. Music classes, instrumental groups, and choruses have regular class periods. Unfortunately there is not enough time during the school day to permit the band to meet before the regular session closes. We hope that may come soon.

Perhaps no other department in school is of so much service to Kane as the music. Musical groups or members from these groups serve the churches, civic clubs, Parent-Teacher organizations, and the community as a whole. Special numbers or entire programs are staged before the school.

Music has a wide appeal. It is not the child of money, and appreciation of it cannot be bought. It has long been the heritage of nations. Passed down from generation to generation it preserved the beauty of the past. Love for music is free, yet one who has it is infinitely the richer. It is our hope at Kane High School to place music in such an attractive setting that all students will be touched by it and be benefitted by their contact, and we look forward eagerly to the time when all our graduates will better understand and love music — the universal language.

● FLORENCE ALLIO, Litt. B. — Grove City College — Freshman and Senior English keep her busy, and being an adviser of the "Hurri-Kane" keeps her busier— ● BELLE BOLLINGER, A. B.—Allegheny College—She puts struggling hopefuls through their hic, haec, hoc and huius and fills her spare moments as an excellent Senior Class adviser and sponsor of the Inter Nos. — ● ETHEL COPELAND — Columbia University — One of the joys of being an e i g h t h grader is having Mrs. Copeland for social studies and music. She also acts as chief "untangler" for the Girls' Knitting Club — ● CARRIE DONOVAN — Fredonia State Teachers College — From first grade to high school she develops artistic abilities in pupils and applies her art at school functions — ● ROSANNA ECKMAN, A. B. — Dickinson College — English for Sophs and Journalism for inspiring reporters, together with doing a fine job of advising the "Hi-Life" make up her schedule — ● CHRISTIAN F. FEIT, JR., B. S. in Ed. — Lockhaven State Teachers College — Besides teaching Economics and Mathematics he drills the Hunting and Fishing Boys in shooting and casting — ● ETHEL M. GREGG, B. S. — Columbia University — Assistant Principal — Reentrance slips and Algebra are her "regular" occupations and directing the Student Council is her "special". — ● MARGARET GROVES, A. B.—Allegheny College — Though a new addition to our faculty this year she expertly led the Juniors through their English Literature; on the side she coached the Public Speaking Club in persuading the public to "lend their ears" and was adviser of the Sophomore Class — ● ROBERT HOLT — Carnegie Tech. — He not only tackled the job of teaching boys mechanical drawing and shop but also started Girls' Shop Club. He obligingly serves as chief property constructor and light tender in plays, for which he deserves much credit — ● GRACE M. JAYCOX — Pennsylvania State College — Efficiently she introduces the eighth graders to new surroundings and instructs them in their final touches of grade English, Health, and Spelling — ● ALICE JOHNSON, B. S. in Physical Ed. — Temple University — Here, there, everywhere, she goes h e l p i n g the first graders on up to girls' gym classes in developing better posture and appreciating the fun of play. Her pet dislikes are laziness and gum and all learn sooner or later never to show either around her — ● GRACE JOHNSTON — Indiana State Teachers College — Her good work as a substitute kept her on as a regular Junior Business Training and Typing instructor. As an extra activity she watches that her Typing Club beginners learn to keep their eyes off the keys!

● HENRY L. KLIPPERT, M. A. — Lehigh University — Problems of Democracy and Social Problems make up his regular schedule. He coaches Junior Dramatics and track — ● W. HENRY LAUER, A. B. — Westminster College — Another new "prof" this year, digging in he helped business minded students through their commercial subjects and advised Junior Chamber of Commerce — ● PAUL MONTGOMERY, M. A. — Penn State College — General Math. for those who want a "little of everything" and American History to all Juniors who insist on remembering the wrong "dates" will never be forgotten (or remembered?) by those of us who struggled through them. But our most vivid picture of "Monty" is that of him with the basketball subs on the sidelines, with feet on an extra ball and a very worried expression on his face — ● WILLIAM NORBECK, B. S. — Greenville College — "You're a gentleman and a scholar!" he pronounces on Plane Geometry or Physics students who know the answer besides helping the Camera boys out of difficulties — ● MORRIS O'NEILL, B. S. in Music — Fredonia State Teachers College — Directing glee club, mixed chorus, music appreciation, orchestra and band is no easy job; but he found time outside to continue the string ensemble, enter the choruses in a festival and produce an operetta — ● LYNNE O. RAMER, A. B. — Susquehanna — With an "always in a hurry" atmosphere about him he rushes to teach World History to Sophs and Solid and Trig to Seniors, plus the endless job of adviser and treasurer of the Athletic Council— ● ELIZABETH SHERMAN, A. B. — Allegheny College — This lady not only taught French and English I. but coached the senior and junior plays. The Thespians are also under her direction — ● ELIZABETH SWANSEEN, B. They Rule Olympics !

Hoarse throats, blistered hands, and tired jaws pass along with their owners at the end of another successful game. While cheers are still echoing, one of the factors that makes this success is already looking ahead. It backs the Wolves as they kick goals, throw for baskets and dash through the tape. Let's all give "Three Cheers for the Athletic Council".

No Court Question Here !

Parliament dissolves, Congress becomes deadlocked, the Diet goes controversial, but our Council marches successfully on. Who would hope for better assembly programs? With the beginning of each school year comes the reorganization of our student administration which forms the connecting link between the student body and the faculty. Through them we express our needs and wishes.

Extra! Extra!

Read all about it! Where? In the HI-LIFE, of course. News, gossip, sports, editorials, jokes — what more can one wish? This compact little paper surely serves as one of the best mediums for student expression. Every Friday the school eagerly awaits the weekly news and whose name the "Wolf Whispers." Before long there will be a four page newspaper — maybe.

Sweet Music and Discords

One and all, hark, to ye lads and lassies making their debut as a mixed choral organization in no uncertain manner of vocalizing. At September roll call more of the fairer sex than masculine huskies responded. But not to be outdone, though timidly at first, "Tibbetts-to-be" joined ranks in the new music room until at June the fellows could hold their own in booming a mighty bass.

Strike Up the Band

With gay uniforms and plenty of pep, the band under its new leader Mr. O'Neill did much to give life to the football and basketball games this year. Town parades once more boasted of having a real band in the celebrations. Besides looking "chic" and playing well, the "fellas" had a lot of fun at practices and games.

Strings and Things

New pieces, new members — a new orchestra! But these new changes didn't hinder the orchestra from progressing. Chapel, plays, and other entertainments still heard the soft melodious violins and the loud trombones. This year more familiar pieces, such as the "Merry Widow Waltz" and "Moonlight and Roses" were successfully played as well as the difficult score of "Ask the Professor" the school operetta.

Latine Loqui Conamur

If you were to peek in on Inter Nos, you might be astonished to hear Latin names being used. Perhaps you would see a girl dressed as one of ancient Rome telling the others about her dress, make-up, education, and customs, or you might hear a discussion about a Roman bride, her wedding festivities, her life as a matron, and her slaves.

Walking Marathons

The Hiking Club under the direction of Miss Johnson is not by any means a new club but that does not stop them from doing new and different things. Many hikes were taken after school. Weiner roasts and cabin parties added to the fun. We wonder if the girls like to hike or want to reduce.

Football

By winning six out of nine games and scoring 108 points to the opponents' 78, the Wolves of 1936 added another successful season to Kane High's football records. Individual stars were overshadowed throughout the season by the stellar play of an exceptionally strong line.

Starting with St. Marys, the Wolves brought forth a victory, in spite of the fact that the team was green and because of injuries, Fridley and Barry were not in the line-up.

The game at Ridgway was perhaps the most thrilling game of the season, with the Elks constantly threatening us by their aerial attacks, but they too bit the dust.

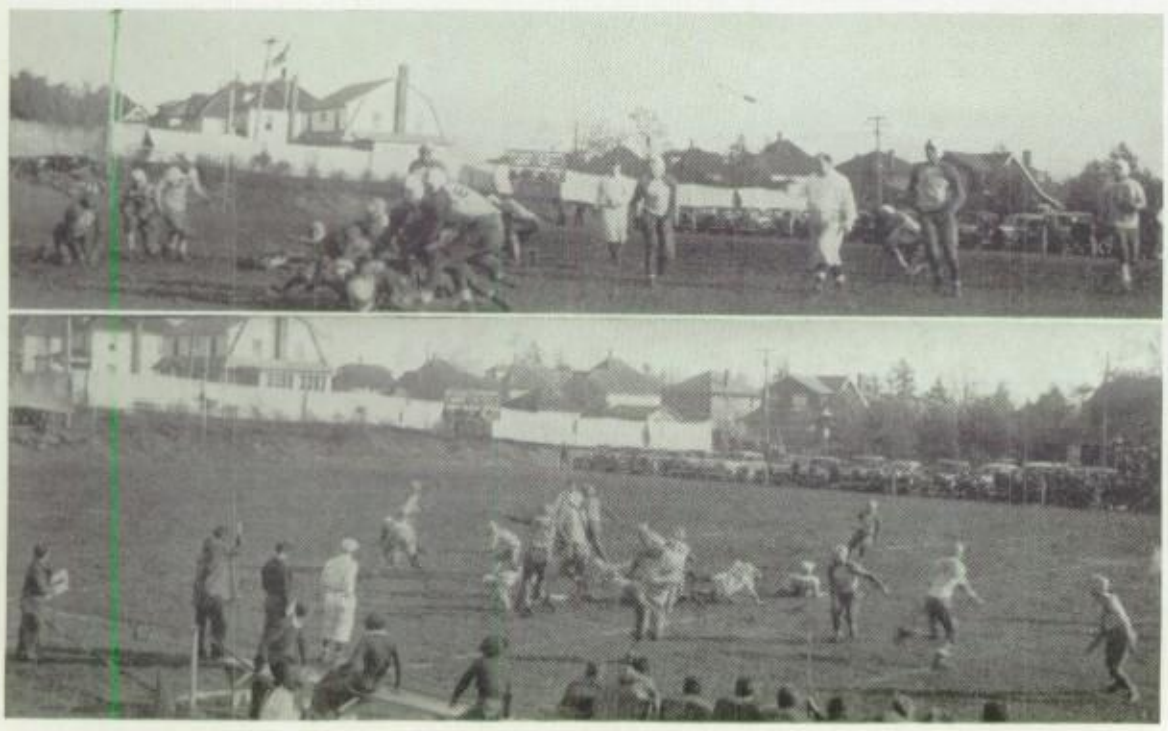
Tying Titusville, the team that won the section football championship, in a ragged game, and defeating Sheffield, the Wolves of 1936 were assured of a successful year.

The Johnsonburg game at Kane was watched by the largest crowd of the season because so far the Johnnies had been undefeated.

Although the outcome of the Bradford game was in favor of our opponents, the loss was no disgrace. The muddy field and rain helped Bradford score their first two touchdowns in the first quarter and not until the last five minutes to play, when Kane subs were in, did they make another.

Kane's second defeat came from an underrated Warren team with our main weakness the failure to watch sleepers and passes.

Thoroughly aroused, Kane returned to victory through well organized running and passing at Port. In the closing game of the season, however, Salamanca took Kane for a ride — the heavier Indians overpowering them.



SCHEDULE

	Kane	Opponent
St. Marys	21	0
Ridgway	8	0
Titusville	6	6

Basketball

New gym, new team, new victories. The Wolves of 1936-'37, played hard basketball and throughout the season their good sportsmanship made a lasting impression on the minds of the spectators. The season had many bright spots; every game was worth seeing; none dull and all of them with very close scores.

Our first league game was with St. Marys on our new court. Both teams played hard but the Dutch nosed out the victory. Kane then went into a series of victories. With Brookville, at home, we chalked up our first victory. Although Kane High was ahead only twice during the Johnsonburg game, the Wolves led at the most important time — the finish, winning by one point. It was another garrison finish for the Wolves at Bradford when, in the last quarter of a close game, Kane scored seven points to Bradford's two, bringing the final score in Kane's favor. The Mt. Jewett game here was very hotly contested, and although Mt. Jewett was defeated, they played fast and hard to the finish. Another victory for Kane through a last quarter drive was the Ridgway contest here. The Elks held the lead in the third quarter, but the Wolves succeeded in taking the tilt.

Warren, however, stopped Kane in the final round of a fast, exciting game making a three way tie for the league lead — Kane, Warren, and Bradford. In one of the best and closest games of the season, Kane High lost to St. Marys in the last minute, although the Wolves had possession of the ball about twice as much as the Dutch and had twice as many shots. Snapping out of our "slump", Kane whipped Sheffield 40-20 in our next league game.

The Wolves' last four games, although they won none, did not lack spirit and fight of the team. Johnsonburg, Bradford, and Ridgway had all been defeated by us earlier in the season. Not until the last five minutes of the Warren game did the Dragons come through, clinching the league championship.

Track

Don't get hoarse shouting to much!
Bill Dinger

For the second time Kane carried out an extensive track program with great success. A new unpredicted interest from the student body helped to give the team pep and spirit this year.

Under the supervision of Coach Klippert the "fellas" repeated the successful season of last year, when they were undefeated in dual meet competition.

The top scorer of the year was Walt Fridley, who participated in the javelin throw, shot-put and the discus in every meet and scored points in each one.

The track team competed in the following events:

RUNNING	FIELD
100 yard dash	Pole vault
220 yard dash	High jump
440 yard dash	Broad jump
880 yard dash	Javelin throw
Mile run	Discus
	Shot-put

The school appreciates the continuance of this spring sport, which offers to many young athletes opportunity for competition which is not possible in football and basketball.

The enthusiastic support of the track team this year is an indication that the school is aware of the fine possibilities and benefits from this all-around sport.

We sincerely hope that in the near future a center track may be constructed so that the track program may be more extensive and will permit home competition.

Get Going Fellows

Although the building of the new gymnasium delayed our extensive intramural program the first part of the year, this was more than made up by the spirit and cooperation of the fellows the second semester. Those who do not have varsity ability or who are handicapped by size are given the opportunity to enjoy a varied sports schedule in this program. Each home room elects a captain and is allowed to enter a team in the league. Every boy can, in this way, find a sport in which he is interested.

The program is sponsored by the intramural staff and is supervised by "Dutch" Usilaner, the physical education instructor. The personnel of this staff includes one senior manager, Harold Hammer; four junior managers, William Gustafson, Fred Aggers, Dick Sanson, and Robert Jones; and three sophomore managers, Leo Fahey, Richard Freeburg, and Jack Flower. The senior and junior managers officiate and take care of the equipment while the sophomore managers keep score, time, and also take care of the locker rooms. In case of protests we have an Intramural Board, which takes care of such matters.

The sports are divided into two classes, major and minor. Major sports include touch football, basketball, mushball, track and hand foot polo. Minor sports include foul shooting, goals under time, basketball golf, gym hockey, wrestling, handball, cross country, badminton, and ping pong. These sports are taught in the gym classes and the boys are given the chance in intramurals to test themselves.

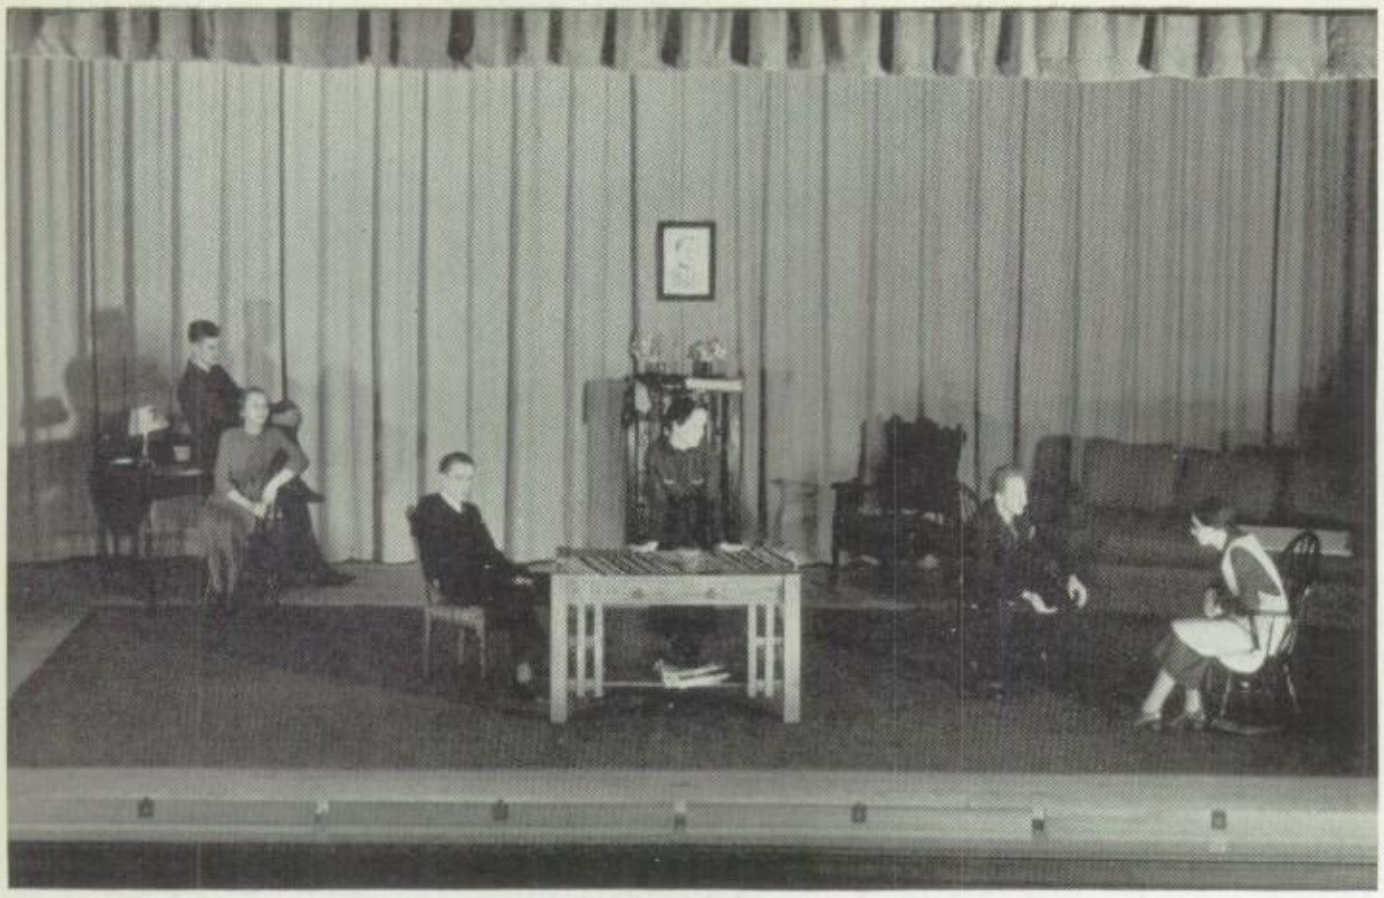
The team which wins a major event receives one hundred points and the team which wins a minor event receives sixty points. Each of the other teams gets a certain number of points according to its place in the league. A plaque is presented to the team which has scored the greatest number of points at the end of the intramural season.

In addition to the plaque there are personal awards. Each player in the winning team receives seven points; each player in second place team, six points; and so on. Each member of a team winning in an event receives a certificate bearing the signatures of the superintendent, principal, and coach. The senior, the junior, and the freshman outstanding in intramural athletics receives a medal at the end of the school year. This year, for the first time, the winning team of each sport received tickets to the movies.

They Do It Differently

It is only true to human nature that what we don't have we want, and when we get it we kick.

"No gym for at least three months," was the verdict Miss Johnson pronounced in September. Groans and grumbles commenced. "Lectures on first aid will fill in the time until then," she added. Continued groans. Nevertheless, this was more fun than it sounded. Many a carpenter, roaming about the halls, was startled to see a regiment of girls hobbling about with slings and bandages and looking like the remains of a cyclone. Some of the bandagers had results that would probably injure a victim more than help. The answers received as to the treatment of the injured in a certain accident almost rated first position in "Believe It or Not". (Unfortunately for us Miss Johnson isn't Ripley.) Then too, many a girl felt as though she had really almost drowned after artificial respiration was practiced on her. Place, lean forward, release, rest; and the "ugh!" from the patient came almost too realistically to be caused by the needed gasp. A couple patients proved too ticklish to feign unconsciousness for long. The only trouble with this course is that it proves that the proper thing for a young lady to do at the sight of blood is to faint "doesn't seem to jibe with the modern idea". Then the long anticipated event happened. We went to our new gym. The new locker room was worth waiting for, with a basket for each one, the gang showers, and enough room in which to turn around. No more trampling toes and punching elbows. Just to prove the appreciation of these facts, more girls signed up for intramurals than had before in the whole history of Kane High. So scrambling, throwing, yelling, and laughing, we went through basketball, volleyball, deck tennis, badminton, mushball, quoits, and tennis. More fun than scratches and bruises resulted when home-room teams played in all sports but tumbling. Those most adept in untangling their arms and legs gave some exhibitions in the latter. Then the year wound up with a bang on May 22, the McKean County Play Day for Girls. Eighty of the fairer sex from the various schools whooped it up together in real old-fashioned fun. A hardly unwelcomed picnic appeared later and successfully sealed the attempt to bring the girls in closer contacts as friends, not rivals.



Mr. Lazarus

Mutterings, mumbling, half-conscious stares, memorizing, (when interrupted) the actors give glares. Getting up, sitting down, walking in and out, smiling, scowling, here—a laugh, there—a pout. It's a hectic time for all because a play is being put on. Last minute rehearsals and advice, excitement, hustling, weak-knees and chattering teeth — they're all memories never-to-be forgotten. The awaiting audience can't see behind scenes as the curtain goes up; they see only the finished product of hard work that is hard work. Lines, cues, action to be mastered letter-perfect, properties to be scraped together, settings to be built — all these must be overcome before a good play can be produced. On a February night the senior dramatic attempt was put to the test of Kane critics and came out victorious. Miss Sherman's patience and perseverance was rewarded at last and a happy cast at the end was proud to have been a part of the big success; for they had aroused curiosity and interest in the plot.

Ask the Professor

"O dear, help me fasten this dress," cries Maryida. "Where is that mustache?" the exasperated "Professor" asks. "Hurry, everybody, the orchestra's playing the overture!" exclaims Miss Johnson.

Where are we? Why backstage on March 17, 1937, the night of "Ask the Professor", an operetta in two acts presented by the students of Kane High School. The plot centers around the life of Maryida O'Neal and her brother "Red" at a fashionable day school. After many trying ordeals, humorous scenes with the two freshmen, and some well sung selections, the story ends happily for everyone concerned.

With the new stage as a background, many new seats to hold an appreciative and approving audience, and the new lighting effects which added beautifully to the gala-colored costumes — how could the operetta help but be one of the most successful entertainments given this year?

The Year

SEPTEMBER

8 — The oniy day we all are early — school begins!

9 — Four-fold drive is on. Anyone have any money?

10 — New profs — Let's get acquainted.

12 — Big crowd at first pigskin game of season.

OCTOBER

9 — The carpenters are causing a lot of competition in noise-making.

13 — Duck! Here comes the bombardment of six weeks' tests!

23 — Another depression? No, just the first report cards!

25 — Bad weather is a football fan too!

29 — Now a preacher, now a farmer is Noah Beilharz, the make-up man.

NOVEMBER

3 — No heat, lights, or bells. Brrr! The Eskimos ought to be here.

11 — Half-holiday. Ad collectors get busy for annual.

13 — The seniors will never be the same, they got their proofs!

23 — Sydney R. Montague with his tales from blubber-land.

25 - 30 — Come on gobbler! We've four days to to ruin you forever.

DECEMBER

1 — Company, about! march! Sixty-seven in first day of hunting season.

4 — The Montgomeryites made their debut with a toss-up!

8 — We're all liquid-air conscious. Elliot James is here.

16 — Flash! Carpenters just can't leave the auditorium long enough for assembly.

17 — Everyone's on his best behavior. Santa is coming! Merry Christmas!

JANUARY

4 — Vacation ends. It was fine—while it lasted!

11 — First assembly in auditorium.

18 — Come on out, the ice is fine!

27 — Half of our worries are over with the first semester.

29 — First senior project gets under way.

Marches On!

FEBRUARY

5 — The Dixie Melody Quartet transports us to the Old South.
9 — Unexpected vacation for some, the mumps are here!
15 — Sweethearts and Roses. Yesterday valentines came out.
17 — "Was he or wasn't he Mr. Lazarus?" comes from the senior play.
21 — Practically all the school turns out when operetta practice is called.

MARCH

5 — Surprise! Names for National Honor Society announced.
8 — Glenn L. Morris shocks us with his electricity.
12 — "Swing it, ring it!" They did in "Ask the Professor"!
18 — Formal Re-Opening of Kane High.
23 — "The hand is quicker than the eye" proved the Campbell magicians.

APRIL

1 — Everyone's snooty with everyone else. We're afraid of getting fooled!
9 — The robins aren't the only ones startled at the snow to-day.
16 — A calliope is all the Senior Fair lacks.
19 — Mr. Miller wants you at the office! It's only schedules!
28 — Everything is so quiet! The seniors have gone to Washington.

MAY

7 — "Growing Pains" — the juniors' first production.
7 — Think hard. Seniors take the scholarship tests!
18 — Student Council banquets, Athletes, Publication Staffs, and Honor Students.
19 — The track is getting beaten down good by the team.
20 — Our musicians flock to music festival at Bradford.

JUNE

3 — Final Exams yet.
6 — The solemn vesper service.
8 — Caps, gowns, diplomas and Commencement!
9 — Last day of school. Seniors lose their assembly seats.
10 — Hip! Hip! A nice long vacation now.
